wyoming in november

VERSE 1

You mourn all the versions of yourself
That were lovable
But never got to be loved
You're a violet in the rain
But the storm around you
Does not hide your pain
Don't wait for the springtime
To bloom into something new
You'll just be disappointed

CHORUS

Write this down in your diary
You don't have to be perfect to be loved
You just need—some solid ground to grow on
Closure isn't always worth it
It's a temporary replacement
But you deserve something much more permanent
Slow it down you were never the reason
You blame yourself for someone else's screaming
Lay your restless head
And keep on dreaming about Wyoming in November

VERSE 2

It occurred to me the imagery of putting yourself to bed
And crying yourself to sleep at night
You wanted a fairytale
But you got a nightmare
And I'm sorry that I couldn't do more
Next time you're outside, look into the stars
Remember all of the memories
That made it feel like home
Someday you'll see the mountains again,
And you won't have to pretend
Let go of all the regrets
Make a wish, make it true and always Remember your real friends

CHORUS

Write this down in your diary
You don't have to be perfect to be loved
You just need—some solid ground to grow on
Closure isn't always worth it
It's a temporary replacement
But you deserve something much more permanent
Lay your restless head
And keep on dreaming about Wyoming in November
